TCS this past week:

WATSON- Have started reading the story, 'This is how we do it.' In art, they have been painting with water colours exploring different colours and techniques.

TAJIRI-Have been having great fun exploring sound waves with balloons. They made amazing plinths in art to display their clay sculptures.

THUNBERG- Have continued investigating and researching our solar system. They have also had a visit from a secondary pupil who shared his knowledge about the topic.

WILLIAMS- Had a fantastic first swimming session. The session helped build confidence and develop skills.

GRANDIN- Have been collecting photos of things they like and would like to do to create a vision board next week.

DAVIS- Have been exploring different types of leadership and how ferociously Genghis Khan ruled part of the world during the Mongol Empire.

TURING- Have been engaging with Homer's poetry and creating their own dramatic productions based on the Iliad.

EILISH- Have learnt about payslips and budgeting in their careers PLG session, they have also continued their positivity programme.

LAWSON- Have been preparing for their English Functional Skills speaking and listening. They have recorded their group discussion and started writing their independent speeches.

BEADLE- Have been exploring links between their feelings and the reactions of our bodies in Zones of Regulation. They have also been thinking about Bullying in PSHE.

ELON- Have completed work on genetic engineering and have started looking at longitudinal and transverse waves.
